

2018 Camp Parsons Centennial Year

Experience a "PNW Gem"!

Join us for a summer camp experience your troop will remember at Camp Parsons during its centennial year! Situated "where the mountains meet the sea" at the foot of the Olympic Mountains on Hood Canal, Camp Parsons is one of the oldest Scout camps operating in America. Noted in Boy's Life magazine as a "Pacific Northwest gem", its remarkable setting offers a rare experience of canoeing, sailboating and swimming in an open saltwater environment. A traditional Boy Scout camp, Camp Parsons is known for its excellent staff and phenomenal program.

More About Camp

Founded in 1919, Camp Parsons sits on 440 acres of forested land on Hood Canal, with traditional Scout camp activities such as rifle shooting, archery, climbing tower and advancement classes, as well as canoeing, sailing and swimming in an open salt water aquatics area. The brand new dining hall features spacious dining facilities, fully-equipped kitchen, and heated floors. The Fort Duckabush Museum catalogs the long, storied history of this well-loved camp. Camp Parsons' beautiful setting, along with its outstanding staff from all parts of the Pacific Northwest and United States, provide a uniquely special experience for Scouts and their leaders.
